Downtown makes up a small share of the City's land area but has substantial economic and community impact.

Downtown sits on 3.2 square miles of the City, which is just 5% of the City land and has a land value of over $3 billion per square mile compared to $0.56 billion for the City and $0.065 billion per square mile for the region. Downtown has a remarkable concentration of the City's real estate assets:

- 25% of residential units
- 27% of retail SF
- 76% of office SF
- 70% of hotel rooms

Dear Virginia,

For decades, Downtown Richmond has been going through a dramatic transformation. Billions upon billions of dollars of investments have taken place from historic preservation projects and adaptive reuse to new infill construction. Neighborhoods that were once industrial, like Shockoe and Manchester, are now vibrant residential and mixed-use neighborhoods. Old office buildings have been converted into chic lofts and hotels, a trend that cities across the country would like to see happening in their downtowns.

Downtown Richmond's neighborhoods include Shockoe to the east, Manchester to the south, Virginia Commonwealth University and Monroe Ward to the west, Jackson Ward, BioTech and VCU Health/Court End to the north and City Center, the Financial District, the Riverfront, and the James River in between.

From 2000-2018 Downtown absorbed 42% of the City's population growth. During that time Downtown experienced 110% population growth, with 21,000 people living Downtown in 2018. Today, that figure is closer to 25,000 people living in and loving RVA Downtown.

Downtown attracts residents who are young and well educated, with 57% having a bachelor's degree or higher, and many are moving here from other places. Downtown has 53% of all jobs in the City and 63% of its knowledge workers. Creative workspaces fill high rise buildings, funky historic rehabs and quirky storefronts.

But Downtown isn't just a place to live and work, it is also a place to play and visit. We invite you to come explore our fabulous neighborhoods, art galleries and public art, eclectic and diverse restaurants and shops, great outdoor spaces and activities, festivals and events, the Riverfront and Canal Walk, the Virginia Capital Trail, and the mighty James River with class IV rapids and miles of trails and parks attracting millions of visitors a year.

*See you soon,
Venture Richmond*

BROOK AND WEST MARSHALL INTERSECTION REDESIGNED

The intersection of Brook Road and West Marshall Street was transformed with three placemaking projects consisting of a custom-designed parklet, pedestrian plaza, and intersection mural designed to slow down traffic. The redesigned area provides space for community gatherings and art appreciation.

The project was funded by Bloomberg Philanthropies, the City's Public Art Commission, and Venture Richmond. City of Richmond staff from Planning and Development Review, the Department of Public Works, the Department of Public Utilities and the Public Art Commission worked alongside Venture Richmond to make the project possible. Additional project partners include ART 180, Big Secret, CB Chandler Construction, Cite Design, Gallery5, LaDIFF, Richmond Toolbank, Vanderbilt Properties, and Walter Parks Architects.

MEET THE FACES OF YOUR DOWNTOWN

Downtown Richmond is not only home to our historic state Capitol, the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond and major corporations, but also to hundreds of small businesses, non-profits and cultural institutions. Most of our small businesses have survived COVID and many have reinvented themselves. As we see the business and leisure travel markets rebound, and weddings and events coming back stronger than ever, we are happy to see more and more visitors Downtown. Combined with employees who are returning to offices, all of this means more people who are supporting our restaurants and small businesses that make up our vibrant and thriving Downtown.

We hope you will visit Downtown Richmond soon and explore our galleries, restaurants, shops, hotels, attractions, and other small businesses. The business owners are our friends and neighbors. And they are the faces of your Capital city.

#MeetMeDowntown

TODAY, WE'RE LIVING IN THE CREATIVE AGE.

An age where success is determined not by physical assets but by intellectual capital — by the ability to challenge conventional wisdom, envision never before-seen possibilities, and bring them to life.

Just as creativity is the fuel for individual achievement, it is also the key ingredient for a successful city.

Today's creative city attracts innovative people and businesses with new experiences and ideas in every aspect of personal and professional life.

It is Richmond.

It is RVA.

RVA has a commitment to challenging convention, a rich history of ideas and an environment that helps make it happen.

RVA has an authentic history of innovation and creativity. This is the city where Thomas Jefferson wrote a statute guaranteeing religious freedom, Maggie Walker (a child of slavery) became the country's first female bank president, Patrick Henry declared liberty or death, Bill "Bojangles" Robinson took dancing to new heights, and Arthur Ashe changed tennis forever.

The story of our past, our present and our future is the story of creativity in action. And that creativity is rooted in RVA Downtown.
